U.S. CONTROL OF MINES FAVERED IF STRIKE HELD

Recommendation Made to Congress by Federal Coal Commission.

Washington, July 9.—Government ownership of anthracite mines is opposed, but government regulation is recommended by the United States coal commission in its preliminary report to the president and congress on its investigations of the anthracite industry. The report was made public here.

The document makes 21 specific recommendations. Chief of these are:

Governmental regulation, with annual reports made to some governmental agency on forms prescribed thereby.

Authorization of the president to declare a national emergency without the necessity of going to congress for specific authority in periods of fuel stringency.

Re-examination of anthracite freight rates by the interstate commerce commission to ascertain the profits the railroads are taking out of the anthracite coal trade, and, if found excessive, to adjust same.

Inspection of quality of coal mined and sold, to protect consumers against impositions and frauds, such as were perpetrated by unscrupulous dealers and producers during the past season.

Larger use of substitute and supplementary fuel to conserve the rapidly diminishing deposits of anthracite, one-third of which already have been exhausted.

Readjustment of wages of mine laborers and conditions of their employment, to insure the miner reasonably steady year-round employment at a living wage.

Power to punish conspiracy against the general welfare, either on the part of operators, of miners, or both. The present laws are not sufficient to meet this situation and enactment of additional legislation will be recommended.

Penalties for breach of agreement to prevent either miners or operators from abrogating their contracts, and thus inviting strikes and lockouts to disrupt production and precipitate fuel crises, of which the public must bear the brunt.

Other recommendations include joint committees to prepare an industrial code and to secure a scientific analysis of mine jobs; provisions for boards of conciliation, to which differences may be referred and friendly adjustments worked out; assimilation of aliens to raise the standard of mine labor; readjustment of royalties to prevent imposition on the consumer through this source; readjustment of size of coal as step towards standardization of production; adoption of a uniform standard ton, so that the consumer may know how many pounds of coal to expect when he buys a ton; publicity of accounts.

In regard to the pending joint wage conference in session at Atlantic City, the commission urges that "a general amnesty may be declared in the industry, the state wiped clean and negotiations looking toward justice to both miner and operator and a continuous and uninterrupted supply to the mines of anthracite."

COAL OPERATORS DELAY ANSWER

Atlantic City, N. J., July 9.—Another delay in the reply of anthracite operators to the demands of the United Mine Workers, seeking unqualified recognition of their union and 20 per cent increase, appeared certain today. The operators spent the night drafting their answer to the union demand. They had not completed the text this morning, although they had previously promised the workers their answer would be submitted at Saturday's session.

LOCATE BODY OF PILOT OF ILL FATED BALLOON IN WATERS OF LAKE ERIE

Fishing Tug Finds Roth Drowned—No Trace of Lieutenant Null, Other Occupant of Aircraft, Discovered—Lashed To Basket

Port Stanley, Ont., July 9.—Clad in only underwear the body of Louis J. Roth was found by a fishing tug in Lake Erie fourteen miles south of here today, lashed to the basket of the naval balloon A-6698, wrecked Thursday night in a terrific storm.

No trace of the body of Lieutenant T. B. Null, Lieutenant Roth's aide, has yet been found, but the discovery of Lieutenant Roth's body is conceded by searchers to be a certain indication that Null also perished. With a naval life preserver about his waist and strapped to his union suit, Lieutenant Roth's body was found tied by balloon rope to the almost submerged basket, which it is believed cut loose from the bag.

The discovery was made by Captain George Wilson of the fishing tug Onajag and was removed here this morning to await instructions from the bureau of aeronautics, U. S. navy at Washington, D. C.

Indemnification was rendered positive by a ring carrying a red jewel setting which was upon the left hand of the dead man and by the initials J. R. stenciled upon the underwear.

The Onajag was not among the fleet of boats searching for the body, but was enroute to the fishing grounds when the body and the balloon were found. The search previously had been centered upon the district about 25 miles southwest of here in the vicinity of which the wrecked balloon was found Saturday morning.

The balloon, since has been towed into Port Stanley.

Indications are that the men got loose from the bag when it struck the water and relied upon the buoy.

WILLIAM R. DAY EX-JUSTICE OF U. S. SUPREME COURT IS DEAD

Former Official Dies Early Monday Morning at His Summer Home at Mackinaw Island, Mich.
Bronchitis Causes Death.

Washington, July 9.—News of the death of William R. Day, of the United States Supreme Court, died at his summer home at Mackinaw Island, Mich., at 5 o'clock this morning, according to word received by his son, former Judge William L. Day here.

Funeral services will be held at his former home at Canton, O. Thursday.

Death was caused by chronic bronchitis. Justice Day was 74 years old.

Washington, July 9.—News of the death of William R. Day though generally expected because of his failing health during the past few years, came as a shock today to the capital, where he served for more than a quarter of a century, first in the State Department as director of the foreign policies of President McKinley and for nearly twenty years as an associate justice of the United States supreme court.

From 1899 until February 1903, he served as United States judge for the sixth judicial circuit and was then elevated to the supreme court by President Roosevelt.

When he learned of Justice Day's death today, Secretary of State Hughes, who served with him on the supreme bench, said "Justice Day was one of the finest men I have ever known. He was one of the most conscientious and competent judges that ever graced the American bench. His decisions were wise and his counsel was sagacious. His death is a distinct loss to the country."

Justice Day resigned from the Supreme Court last year to become a member of the German-American mixed claims commission when he found that his advancing years would not permit him to give proper attention to both duties. A few days before his death he had completed the text of his report to the commission.

HARDING HEARS COMPLAINTS OF ALASKA NATIVES

President Makes First Landing in Northern Territory

RELIEF IS SOUGHT

Indians Declare Fishing Being Spoiled By Large Canneries

Ketchikan, Alaska, July 9.—President Harding's first landing in Alaska was when the Henderson steamer anchored in smooth water off Annette island, where the little fishing village of Metlakatla is located.

Her Indian natives had made preparations to receive the president and relate grievances against conditions in the fishing industry, which are depriving them of the opportunity to make a living.

The village was decorated with bunting and the native band played as the president and party landed and were escorted to the schoolhouse on the slope facing the bay.

Exercises entirely under the supervision of native Alaskans, consisting of an address of welcome by the mayor, rendering of a chorus of hallelujahs by the community choir and addresses by villagers, told of their patriotism and desire for better schools and opportunity for training in industry.

The president responded by saying that the government would do all possible to alleviate their grievances and help the people to become better citizens and get educational advantages, and expressed satisfaction at their evidences of Americanism and Christianizing influences.

The most impressive part of the speech was a speech in broken language by an aged native fisherman, who told how the invasion of cannery boats makes it impossible to obtain sufficient fish for families to eat.

He urged the president's help for the people and asked that he refuse to grant exclusive monopoly of the fishing to the cannery interests.

Scott C. Bone, governor of Alaska, joined the party at Metlakatla and accompanied it to Ketchikan.

The president's voyage to Alaska was graced with pleasant weather.

Except for rough seas, which were encountered while crossing Queen Charlotte sound, the entire trip has been through the inland passage, marked by smooth water like a mill pond, with bracing wind and bright sunshine.

The president and Mrs. Harding both are greatly enjoying excellent health and are getting the first real rest since the spring Florida trip.

For the first time since departure from Washington, the president took occasion to study the large bundle of clippings from eastern newspapers containing comment on various subjects, and he appeared greatly satisfied by most of the comments, which were favorable to the party and those relating to his new world court position demanding complete division of the court from the league.

Lewis and Copeland, Lima contractors for the Yellow Springs Pike contractors for the Yellow Springs Pike paving on the section in Greene County are expected to begin operations in a week or ten days.

County Engineers have been informed that the contracting company would begin operations then.

Owing to other jobs it was at first feared the contractors would not start work as soon as hoped.

Donald Roach, contractor for the pike in Clark County, is expected to start operations on that section of the road this week. The new pike will be built of concrete from Xenia to Springfield.

The present brotherhood contracts will expire October 1. According to brotherhood representatives here the Big Four chiefs hope to have a settlement made with the railroad managers prior to that time.

POSSIBILITY OF RAIL STRIKE FACES NATION

UNDERWOOD HAS BONNET IN RING

BROTHERHOODS SEEK INCREASE IN THEIR PAY

Organizations Expected to Launch Drive for 20 Per Cent Boost

TO MEET IN JULY

Seek Restoration of Wages Paid Prior to Two Recent Cuts

Columbus, O., July 9.—The Big Four Railroad Brotherhoods are expected to launch a concerted drive for wage increases of from 20 to 30 per cent in regional conferences to be held in July and August, it became known here today.

Western association representatives of the brotherhoods met in Chicago July 11, while eastern and southern conferences will take place later in Cleveland and Washington. It was first announced that only the engineers and trainmen would demand increased wages, but it is now known on good authority that the other two brotherhoods will back them up.

The brotherhoods combined make the most powerful railroad labor combination in the world and should they decide upon a strike to enforce demands, transportation would be brought to a dead stop.

It was understood the brotherhoods want restored to them the wages that obtained prior to the two cuts made by the United States Railroad Labor Board at Chicago.

A third cut was forecasted by that put on the shopmen but it was never authorized as the railroad situation was tied up by the mechanics' strike.

The two cuts were something over thirty per cent and brotherhood officials claimed that the wages of the highest class railroad labor was cut less than that of other craftsmen in the less skilled trades.

With the conservatism which has marked the operations of the brotherhoods the cuts were accepted but following recent conferences of the Big Four chiefs in Chicago and Cleveland, it was decided to bring the wage increase demands before the regional conferences.

The present brotherhood contracts will expire October 1. According to brotherhood representatives here the Big Four chiefs hope to have a settlement made with the railroad managers prior to that time.

PRISON REFORMS IN MANY STATES LOOM FOLLOWING TRIAL

Whipping Boss' Conviction May Have Widespread Effect

Lake City, Fla., July 9.—Thomas Walter Higginbotham, who was found guilty of murder of Martin Tabert of North Dakota in the second degree, was sentenced to 20 years' imprisonment. He was released on $10,000 bond pending hearing of appeal. The former whipping boss was accused of having caused the death of Tabert as the result of a beating administered while the North Dakotan was serving a term in the Putnam Lumber company's convict leased camp.

The conviction is expected to have a widespread effect in bringing about prison reform in other states, especially in the south, where the lease and lash still prevail. It was the nation-wide publicity given to the evils of the convict lease system in Florida through the Tabert case that really crystallized the sentiment in this state for penal reform and made that the chief business before the two months' session of the legislature in April and May.

FISHER CANDIDATE TO SUCCEED SELF AS COMMISSIONER

His petition, bearing a number of names already obtained, is being circulated by B. L. Whittington, North Detroit Street. Only a little more than 80 names are required on the petitions for city commissioners.

Commissioner Fisher is the first candidate to make known his intentions. He has been a member of the commission since the beginning of the commission-managed form of government here and is the only original commissioner still left on that body.

He was elected for two terms beginning his first term, January 1, 1918 when the new form of government made its debut. He served two years under that election and January 1, 1920 began his second term of four years, which expires next December 31.

There are two commissioners to elect this fall, the other to succeed Dr. C. G. McPherson, appointed to succeed Dr. A. D. DeHaven, whose term expires December 31. Commissioner Fisher is married and is an engineer on the Pennsylvania railroad.

BAYLIFFS AVERAGE DEFEAT WHEN FREE SUBDUES ATHLETICS BY 9 TO 1 COUNT

By WONES

The Xenia Bayliffs obtained revenge on the Springfield Athletics for the defeat the Springfield bunch slipped the locals several weeks ago Sunday afternoon at Washington park, when the locals conquered the Athletics by 9 to 1 count in a well played game.

Neither team could do much in the way of scoring in early innings and the game was a pitcher's battle between Free of the Bayliffs and Lockinski of the Athletics. The former had a slight edge on the argument and the game was settled in his favor in the sixth inning when the locals went on a batting rampage and scored five runs off of four hits and two free passes. The Bayliffs did not stop at this and came back in the eighth round and scored four more counters as the result of a home run by Bayne, triple by Leach and singles by Tucker and F. Leahy.

Curt Free, the hard luck twirler, was in good form Sunday and he pitched superb ball. Free fanned 7 while he did not issue a free ticket to first and let the opposition down with four scattered hits. One of these was a great home run by Ervin who tapped the ball near the left field fence and robbed the pitcher of a shut out. Leach could not locate the ball, so Ervin had plenty of time to touch all the sacks. Free was given excellent support by his teammates who made only two errors.

Lockinski was on the hill for the losers and while he pitched wonderful ball in the opening rounds the Bay

ON ACCOUNT OF NEGRO EXODUS 55,000 IDLE PLOWS IN GEORGIA.

In the first six months of this year 77,500 Negroes and 29,513 whites have quit the farms of Georgia and moved to industrial centers of the North and East, according to a report on the labor exodus by James S. Peters, president of the Georgia Bankers' Association.

In the last three years, the report shows, 228,938 Negroes have migrated from Georgia, leaving the colored population of the State possibly less than it was in 1890. Some 46,000 farm dwellings have been left vacant, and, estimating thirty acres to the plow, here are more than 55,000 idle plows in the State at the present time.

"It is useless to talk about labor agents or to legislate against their activities," says the report. "It did not require labor agents to take from Ireland almost one-half of her population and transplant them on the shores of North America. Superior living conditions and higher wages did this. It was often said that, if Ireland could stop letter-writing between the emigrants and the home people, it would be an effective means of stopping migration.

"The same holds true of the Negro today. Every letter from the North brings news of high wages, good living conditions, schools and other advantages—and these are what is doing the damage."

The report recommends increased wages, better housing conditions and better educational facilities as a means of keeping labor at home and on the farm.

PERMIT NOT ITS SPIRIT TO ABATE.

The shot that was heard around the world continued to reverberate, in fact, grew in volume, until it culminated in the great explosion of unfettered sentiment known as the Declaration of Independence; hence the custom for so many years of marking the anniversary with explosive rites. This tendency, thoroughly fitting for the young and ardent days of the nation, has decreased considerably and has been supplanted by manifestations of the spirit more in keeping with maturity and thoughtful patriotism.

We may put aside the more extravagant demonstrations, but we must maintain a reverence for the emblems and memories of Independence Day and must not diminish the importance of its principles; otherwise our country will be imperiled. From the standpoint of nationalism, the Fourth of July is by long odds the most important day we celebrate.

The annual observance keeps the most sacred of American traditions fresh in the hearts of the people. Any lapsing of the spirit, any turning aside from the objects of the occasions, are lessening of vigilance and in favor of the enemies of American institutions.

The ideals of the day form one of the strongest bulwarks against that propaganda and those forces, organized both inside and outside our borders, known to be aiming at the destruction of this nation.

HAPPY TO BE OUT OF MOSCOW.

George Seldes Chicago Tribune correspondent, in a letter to one of the editors of the Tribune, says: "I must tell you how happy I am to be out of Moscow. I rather like the idea of going back after the trip to Paris in January, but from the first day of my return I felt that things should change. Eventually when there were internal and international troubles the chance came to see the real, vicious fact of bolshevism. I did not, however, get scared, or the crazy ideas of being 'shadowed' at every step, as did—. But it was bad enough. Believe me, if bolshevism ever comes to America nothing would please me more than a nice corner post on a roof overlooking two main streets and a nice, large machine gun and unlimited belts of ammunition. I am convinced more than ever that Russian bolshevism will never be satisfied until it carries world revolution to other countries, but the country they want most is America. I certainly believe it is the duty of every man who cares the least bit for his own liberty or for the most fundamental human rights, to fight the greatest force today of anti-civilization."

THE FARM BUSINESS.

It is the business of every farmer to grow good crops upon his farm. His dependence is upon the fertility of the soil, it is the capital upon which he does business, and is the asset of the farm.

When we take into consideration the fact, that some farmers raise 80 to over 100 bushels of corn to the acre, while the general average of the farmers in the same county or state having an equal chance to do the same, produce less than half the amount.

It is evident that the majority of the farmers are not using the proper method of keeping up the fertility of the soil. While the average is not equal to one-half the best crop yields, there must be a goodly number far below the average. We all want better yields and the only way to get them, is to improve the fertility of the soil.

The soil with its fertility exhausted, is like a bank without funds. This is occasioned by the crop that is grown upon the land, drawing on the elements that constitutes the fertility of the soil, to produce the crop. If the soil is not supplied with manure or matter that forms a fertilizer to replace that used in making the crop, the soil will grow weaker with each crop yield. This, therefore, shows the vital necessity and urgency of building up the producing asset of the great majority of our farms.

LEARNING

Take our President today—Once, and not so far away
He couldn't spell the simplest word
Mortals ever spoke or heard.
Couldn't add up two and two,
Didn't know where cotton grew;
Had to learn all that some way,
And he's President today.
Bet you, if we knew the truth,
He made blunders in his youth,
And in school our President
Wasn't always excellent;
Bet he had his troubles too,
Just like me and just like you,
Wondered, too, at every turn
Why there was so much to learn.

There was nothing when he came
Proving he was born for fame,
Nothing more of skill or joy
Than God gives each normal boy,
He possessed. You have as much
As was his to clasp and clutch,
By his conquest he inspired
All the knowledge he acquired.

You begin where he began.

S.S.S. keeps away Pimples

HERE are thousands of women who wonder why their complexions do not improve in spite of all the face treatments they use. They should not continue to wonder. Eruptions come from blood impurities and a lack of rich blood-cells. S.S.S. is acknowledged to be one of the most powerful, rapid and effective blood cleansers known. S.S.S.

S.S.S. The World's Best Blood Medicine

You're a boy and he's a man,
But with all that he can do
He was once a boy like you!
And for all that makes him great
He has had to work and wait,
Had to learn it, day by day—
You can learn the self-same way.

Today's Talk

I hear a great deal about a man's spiration, then we have reached our usefulness being caged, clipped, or age. We are restricted by what is sometimes termed "the age limit."

I must confess that I find it difficult to get the exact meaning of character that youth never knows. How finely named was that marvelous statesman William E. Gladstone, whom they called "The Grand Old Man." At the age of eighty he fairly swam in his enthusiasm.

Leave your years alone. Pay attention to what you put into them!

"I am a believer in youth—plus! And a man long past his fifties may have all this. There are many old and useless men at the age of thirty.

A famous doctor, sometime ago, urged that men past sixty be done away with. But, as I recall, that would have done away with the doctor himself!

When we have lost our interest, our desire to rise higher, our hope for finer things—when we have forgotten how to be kind and to be thoughtful toward other people—when we find work lacking in interest,

WATCHMAN'S ERROR RESULTS IN KILLING OF MANY FISH

An error on the part of a watchman at the plant of The Hagar Straw Board and Paper Company at Cedarville was blamed for the killing of several thousand fish in Massies' Creek, by Greene County Game Protector Karl Keller, Monday.

The fish and game official fixed blame for the death of the fish on the watchman after an investigation which indicated that other company officials were not responsible. The watchman, according to Mr. Keller, thought the rains Friday were sufficient to cause a freshet in the stream enough to carry away poisonous waste matter from the sludge beds at the plant.

In the belief the poisonous matter would be carried away, he released a valve on one of the sludge beds. When he reached the dam he saw the water was clear and hurrying back, closed the valve. In the meantime considerable waste matter had entered the stream. Thousands of fish died while a number of others were saved by Mr. Keller, who transferred many of them to clear water.

J. T. Travers, Columbus, supervisor of streams of the State Fish and Game Department, is expected to make an investigation of the situation Tuesday morning with the local Game Protector.

Under normal conditions there is no danger of poisoning the fish in the stream, according to Mr. Keller. Installation of reservoirs to retain the sludge prevented this trouble. There were no fish killed there last summer and none this summer until the watchman opened the gates last Friday, he said. This, according to Mr. Keller, proves that the equipment of the plant is safe now barring the possibilities of the mistake of a caretaker.

Since the gates were opened complaints have also reached Mr. Keller from farmers, who say their stock refuse to drink the water. W. W. Galloway, head of the Cedarville Company, expressed regret for the error of the employee.

Mr. Galloway has sent company employees to remove dead fish from the stream and bury them, to prevent unsanitary conditions along the stream, it is said.

THROWN OUT OF BUGGY-ESCAPES

Ed Shaw, farmer, of near Bellbrook, escaped unhurt when he was thrown out of his buggy as it was struck by an automobile occupied by five colored men near Main and Galloway Streets Saturday afternoon.

Police say the automobile was in a triple collision. The driver said he was traveling east on Main Street when his machine struck a car swerving to the left and colliding with an Adair furniture store truck. After striking the truck the machine swerved straight across the street, running into the buggy. Shaw was thrown out but unhurt. The buggy was damaged.

LEAGUE CONTESTS SATURDAY FAIL TO CHANGE STANDINGS

The Xenia Shoes continued their winning streak in the Industrial League Saturday by taking the measure of the Kelly Kords, 8 to 4 at Willow Tree Park while the H. and A. Binders were defeating the H. and A. Blue Hearts 5 to 4 at Reserve Park and the Pennsylvania Railroad nine were defeating the H. and A. Commercials 5 to 1 at Washington Park.

Results of Saturday's games leaves the Shoes out in front in the League race with four won and none lost, while the Kords drop back behind the railroad and Binder outfits. The Commercials made another vain attempt to break into the win column and as a result are still occupying the cellar position while the Blue Hearts also slipped a few notches downward.

"BABY FARM CARAVAN" MYSTERY TRAGEDY

been boarding the children in her home in Brooklyn, but her neighbors objected, and she bundled them all into a taxicab and took the long journey northward, in an effort to buy a farm where she could care for the infants. During the long automobile trip up the State two of the children became seriously ill and a third died. Mrs. Siewers was lodged in the county alms house with her wards, and their parents were notified to come after them.

GREENE COUNTY PAYS OVER $5,000 IN FINES

The State of Ohio benefitted in the sum of $5,833.72 from the prosecution of liquor law offenders under the Crabb Act in Greene County during the fiscal year ending June 30.

This amount represents one-half of the fines assessed under the state prohibition law. The state received $1,195,634.27 as its half of all fines assessed under that law in the state. The amount is an increase over the previous fiscal year of $596,307.87.

Hamilton County leads in total collections with $247,921.54 collected in fines since the law went into effect. Cuyahoga County is next with a total of $228,146.31. Morrow County has collected only $25, the smallest in the state.

LIGHTNING AND RAIN PRODUCED

Volta machine.

From manufactured clouds over a miniature village, artificial lightning of 2,000,000 volts has been produced in a series of experiments at Pittsfield, Massachusetts, in the laboratory of the General Electric Company. Lightning flashed from make-believe clouds and leveled buildings in the pseudo village. The sound of the accompanying thunder was entirely realistic. In some tests rain, also, was produced. Despite the fact that lightning travels at the velocity of light—186,000 miles per second—engineers were able to measure the shape of the flash, determine its pressure. This is the lightning generator which produced the flash of 2,000,000 volts and ten-million horsepower electrical force.

A MARGIN FOR OVERLOAD

The 10-ton crane will for a while lift 15 tons. The five-ton motor truck will for a while carry seven or eight tons. But the wise user knows that it is better to avoid continuous overloading.

So it is with money. The dollar can be overworked. During brief periods it can be forced to yield more than a safe, economic rate. But the wise owner of money knows it is better to ask for only a safe yield, a yield that may be accepted with no misgivings, a yield that requires no continuous argument to prove that it is justifiable.

Cleanliness---A Modern Idea

Shortly before the Civil War, Boston made it a prison offense to take a bath except on the advice of a physician. The Philadelphia Council tried to make it illegal to bathe between November 1 and March 15 and failed by one vote. Virginia placed a luxury tax of $30 on each bathtub in the state.

Ideas regarding cleanliness have changed materially since then. In fact, ideas on almost everything have undergone something of a metamorphosis. Today, these changes are taking place more rapidly than ever before. There has never been a time when evolution hit such a furious pace—when conditions changed so quickly—when standards of living were raised so consistently.

You may not realize it, but advertising is responsible for much of this improvement. Advertising has taken its place as a leading force in solving the wants of the people.

Stop and think how many of the appliances you use, the foods you eat, the clothes you wear and other articles entering into your daily life, were popularized through newspaper advertising.

Then you will realize what a debt you owe to advertising.

Combination Salad—This means, of course, any combination of leftovers suitable to combine for a salad. The "Combination Salad" which Thursday's menu will call for might, for instance, be made of beets, string beans (left over from Wednesday night's dinner), mixed with a hard-boiled egg and a little chopped pickle to make it appetizing. Serve with Mayonnaise dressing.

Stuffed Potatoes—Bake six potatoes of uniform size. When done and still hot, cut off a small end from each potato and scoop out the inside into a bowl; mash well and add two tablespoons of butter, one-half cup of hot milk, one teaspoon of finely chopped parsley and salt and pepper to season. Beat the whites of two eggs stiff and mix it with the potato. Then refill the skins with this stuffing, letting it mound up well. Brush the tops with the egg-yolks and crowd the stuffed potatoes together into a small pan so that they will stand upright. Slip the pan into a hot oven for ten minutes, and serve. If desired, a slice of bacon may be laid over the top of each potato, to crisp in the final baking.

Stuffed Baked Peppers—Cut a slice from the stem-end of several bell peppers and scoop out the seeds. Let the pepper-cups lie in salted water for one hour, then boil them in clear water for ten minutes and drain. They have now lost their taste and are ready to be stuffed. Of course, hash, ham and peas, or any appropriate stuffing may be used for them. But the stuffing I had in mind for Sunday Night's Supper menu is the following:

Chicken Stuffing—Put the leftovers from the Sunday Noon Dinner's Fricas-seed Chicken through your meat grinder, measure it, then season it to taste with salt and pepper. Add one teaspoon of grated onion, one tablespoon of chopped parsley, one large tomato finely minced, with its juice, and the same measure of cracker crumbs as you have of chicken. Mix well together, and use as a stuffing for the pepper-cups. Lay a slice of bacon over the top of each stuffed pepper and bake, in a pan containing a very little boiling water, for 40 minutes. If desired, chopped stuffed olives may also be added to the stuffing to give a different flavor. Or leftovers of chives, celery and a very little chopped pickle may be added. The peppers may be stuffed in the early afternoon, kept in the refrigerator, then baked at night for supper—thus allowing the housewife to remain out till almost suppertime.

U.S. CONTROL OF MINES FAVORED IF STRIKE HELD

Recommendation Made to Congress by Federal Coal Commission.

Washington, July 9—Government ownership of anthracite mines is opposed, but government regulation is recommended by the United States coal commission in its preliminary report to the president and congress on its investigations of the anthracite industry. The report was made public here.

The document makes 21 specific recommendations. Chief of these are:

Governmental regulation, with annual reports made to some governmental agency on forms prescribed thereby.

Authorization of the president to declare a national emergency without the necessity of going to congress for specific authority in periods of fuel stringency.

Re-examination of anthracite freight rates by the interstate commerce commission to ascertain the profits the railroads are taking out of the anthracite coal trade, and, if found excessive, to adjust same.

Inspection of quality of coal mined and sold, to protect consumers against impositions and frauds, such as were perpetrated by unscrupulous dealers and producers during the past season.

Larger use of substitute and supplementary fuel to conserve the rapidly diminishing deposits of anthracite, one-third of which already have been exhausted.

Readjustment of wages of mine laborers and conditions of their employment, to insure the miner reasonably steady year-round employment at a living wage.

Power to punish conspiracy against the general welfare, either on the part of operators, of miners, or both. The present laws are not sufficient to meet this situation and enactment of additional legislation will be recommended.

Penalties for breach of agreement to prevent either miners or operators from abrogating their contracts, and thus inviting strikes and lockouts to disrupt production and precipitate fuel crises, of which the public must bear the brunt.

Other recommendations include joint committees to prepare an industrial code and to secure scientific analysis of mine jobs; provisions for boards of conciliation, to which differences may be referred and friendly adjustments worked out; assimilation of aliens to raise the standard of mine labor; readjustment of royalties to prevent imposition on the consumer through this source; readjustment of size of coal as a step towards standardization of production; adoption of a uniform standard ton, so that the consumer may know how many pounds of coal to expect when he buys a ton; publicity of accounts.

In regard to the pending joint wage conference in session at Atlantic City, the commission urges that "a general amnesty" may be declared in the industry, the slate wiped clean and negotiations looking toward justice to both miner and operator and a continuous and uninterrupted supply to the public of anthracite."

COAL OPERATORS DELAY ANSWER

Atlantic City, N. J., July 9—Another delay in the reply of anthracite operators to the demands of the United Mine Workers, seeking unqualified recognition of their union and 20 per cent increase, appeared certain today. The operators spent the night drafting their answer to the union demand. They had not completed the text this morning, although they had previously promised the workers their answer would be submitted at Saturday's session.

LOCATE BODY OF PILOT OF ILL FATED BALLOON IN WATERS OF LAKE ERIE

Fishing Tug Finds Roth Drowned—No Trace of Lieutenant Null, Other Occupant of Aircraft, Discovered—Lashed To Basket

Port Stanley, Ont., July 9—Clad only in underwear the body of Louis Roth was found by a fishing tug in Lake Erie fourteen miles south of here today, lashed to the basket of the naval balloon A-6698, wrecked Thursday night in a terrific storm.

No trace of the body of Lieutenant T. B. Null, Lieutenant Roth's aide, has yet been found, but the discovery of Lieutenant Roth's body is conceded by searchers to be a certain indication that Null also perished. With a naval life preserver about his waist and stripped to his union suit, Lieutenant Roth's body was found tied by balloon rope to the almost submerged basket, which it is believed cut loose from the bag.

The discovery was made by Captain George Wilson of the fishing tug Onajag and was removed here this morning to await instructions from the bureau of aeronautics, U. S. navy at Washington, D. C.

Identification was rendered positive by a ring carrying a red jewel setting which was upon the left hand of the dead man and by the initials L. R. stenciled upon the underwear.

The Onajag was not among the fleet of boats searching for the body, but was enroute to the fishing grounds when the body and the balloon were found. The search previously had been centered upon the district about 25 miles south west of here in the vicinity of which the wrecked balloon was found Saturday morning.

The balloon, since has been towed into Port Stanley.

Indications are that the men cut loose from the bag when it struck the water and relied upon the buoy

WILLIAM R. DAY EX-JUSTICE OF U. S. SUPREME COURT IS DEAD

Former Official Dies Early Monday Morning at His Summer Home at Mackinaw Island, Mich., Bronchitis Causes Death.

Washington, July 9—News of the death of William R. Day, of the United States Supreme Court died at his summer home at Mackinaw Island, Mich., at 5 o'clock this morning, according to word received by his son, former Judge William L. Day here.

Funeral services will be held at his former home at Canton, O. Thursday.

Death was caused by chronic bronchitis. Justice Day was 74 years of age.

Washington, July 9—News of the death of William R. Day though generally expected because of his failing health during the past few years, came as a shock today to the capital, where he served for more than a quarter of a century, first in the State Department as director of the foreign policies of President McKinley and for nearly twenty years as an associate justice of the United States supreme court.

Justice Day resigned from the Supreme Court last year to become a member of the German-American claims commission when he was appointed by the Belmont county infirmary, who served with him on the supreme bench, said "Justice Day was one of the finest men I have ever known. He was one of the most conscientious and competent judges that ever graced the American bench. His decisions were wise and his counsel was sagacious. His death is a distinct loss to the country.

Youngblood said he made an inspection at Delaware and found a cabin which he judged cost about $1,500. Mrs. Stannard told him it cost about $50, he testified. States witnesses have claimed the erection of this cabin was unauthorized waste of state funds.

HARDING HEARS COMPLAINTS OF ALASKA NATIVES

President Makes First Landing in Northern Territory

RELIEF IS SOUGHT

Indians Declare Fishing Being Spoiled By Large Canneries

Ketchikan, Alaska, July 9—President Harding's first landing in Alaska was when the Henderson steamer anchored in smooth water off Annette island, where the little fishing village of Metlakatla is located.

Her Indian natives had made preparations to receive the president and relate grievances against conditions in the fishing industry, which are depriving them of the opportunity to make a living. The village was decorated with hunting and the native band played as the president and party landed and were escorted to the schoolhouse on the slope facing the bay. Exercises entirely under the supervision of native Alaskans, consisting of an address of welcome by the mayor, rendering of a chorus of hallelujahs by the community choir and addresses by villagers, told of their patriotism and desire for better schools and opportunity for training in industry.

The president responded by saying that the government would do all possible to alleviate their grievances and help the people to become better citizens and get educational advantages, and expressed satisfaction at their evidences of Americanism and Christianizing influences.

The most impressive part of the ceremony was a speech in broken language by an aged native fisherman, who told how the invasion of cannery makes it impossible to obtain sufficient fish for families to eat.

He urged the president's help to the people and asked that he refuse to grant exclusive monopoly of the fishing to the cannery interests.

Scott C. Bone, governor of Alaska, joined the party at Metlakatla and accompanied it to Ketchikan.

The president's voyage to Alaska was graced with pleasant weather.

Except for rough seas, which were encountered while crossing Queen Charlotte sound, the entire trip has been through the inland passage, marked by smooth water like a mill pond, with bracing wind and bright sunshine. The president and Mrs. Harding both are greatly enjoying excellent health and are getting the first real rest since the spring Florida trip.

For the first time since departure from Washington, the president took occasion to study the large bundle of clippings from eastern newspapers containing comment on various subjects, and he appeared greatly satisfied by most of the comments, which were favorable to the party and those relating to his new world court position demanding complete division of the court from the league.

RAISE ISSUE OVER USING STATE FUNDS BY MRS. STANNARD

Erection of Log Cabin Features Hearing Against Matron

Columbus, O., July 9—Flat denial that cruelties were inflicted on inmates of the Girls' Industrial School at Delaware was made today when witnesses for Mrs. Stannard, deposed matron, who is seeking reinstatement, took the stand in the hearing before the State Civil Service Commission.

Columbus, July 9.—A question of the expenditure of state funds in the erection of a log cabin at the Girls' Industrial School at Delaware, under the administration of Mrs. Mae Stannard, deposed matron, was brought up in the testimony of John B. Youngblood, consulting engineer of the State Welfare Department today.

The hearing in which Mrs. Stannard seeks reinstatement before the State Civil Service Commission was resumed here after sessions at Delaware.

Youngblood said he made an inspection at Delaware and found a cabin which he judged cost about $1,500. Mrs. Stannard told him it cost about $50, he testified. States witnesses have claimed the erection of this cabin was unauthorized waste of state funds.

BROTHERHOODS SEEK INCREASE IN THEIR PAY

Organizations Expected to Launch Drive for 20 Per Cent Boost
TO MEET IN JULY
Seek Restoration of Wages Paid Prior to Two Recent Cuts

Columbus, O., July 9—The Big Four Railroad Brotherhoods are expected to launch a concerted drive for wage increases of from 20 to 30 per cent in regional conferences to be held in July and August, it became known here today.

Western association representatives of the brotherhoods met in Chicago July 11, while eastern and southern conferences will take place later in Cleveland and Washington. It was first announced that only the engineers and trainmen would demand increased wages, but it is now known on good authority that the other two brotherhoods will back them up.

The brotherhoods combined make the most powerful railroad labor combination in the world and should they decide upon a strike to enforce demands, transportation would be brought to a dead stop.

It was understood the brotherhoods' wage restored to them the wages that obtained prior to the two cuts made by the United States Railroad Labor Board at Chicago.

A third cut was forecasted by last week on the shopmen but it was never authorized as the railroad situation was tied up by the mechanics' strike.

The two cuts were something over thirty per cent and brotherhood officials claimed that the wages of the highest class railroad labor was cut below that of other craftsmen in the less skilled trades.

With the conservatism which has marked the operations of the brotherhoods the cuts were accepted but following recent conferences of the Big Four chiefs in Chicago and Cleveland, it was decided to bring the wage increase demands before the regional conferences.

The present brotherhood contracts will expire October 1. According to brotherhood representatives here the Big Four chiefs hope to have a settlement made with the railroad managers prior to that time.

PRISON REFORMS IN MANY STATES LOOM FOLLOWING TRIAL

Whipping Boss' Conviction May Have Widespread Effect

Lake City, Fla., July 9—Thomas Walter Higginbotham, who was found guilty of murder of Martin Tabert of North Dakota in the second degree, was sentenced to 20 years' imprisonment. He was released on $10,000 bond pending hearing of appeal. The former whipping boss was accused of having caused the death of Tabert as the result of a beating administered while the North Dakotan was serving a term in the Putnam Lumber company's convict leased camp.

The conviction is expected to have a widespread effect in bringing about prison reform in other states, especially in the south, where the lease and lash still prevail. It was the nation-wide publicity given to the evils of the convict lease system in Florida through the Tabert case that really crystallized the sentiment in this state for penal reform and made that the chief business before the two month's session of the legislature in April and May.

There are two commissioners to elect this fall, the other to succeed Dr. C. G. McPherson, appointed to succeed Dr. A. D. DeHaven, whose term expires December 31. Commissioner Fisher is married and is an engineer on the Pennsylvania railroad.

BAYLIFFS AVERAGE DEFEAT WHEN FREE SUBDUES ATHLETICS BY 9 TO 1 COUNT

By WONES

The Xenia Bayliffs obtained revenge on the Springfield Athletics for the defeat the Springfield bunch suffered the locals several weeks ago Sunday afternoon at Washington park, when the locals conquered the Athletics by 8 to 1 count in a well played game. Neither team could do much in the way of scoring in early innings and the game was a pitcher's battle between Free of the Bayliffs and Lockinski of the Athletics. The former had a slight edge on the argument and the game was settled in his favor in the sixth inning when the locals went on a batting rampage and scored five runs off of four hits and two free passes. The Bayliffs did not stop at this and came back in the eighth round and scored four more counters as the result of a home run by Bayne, triple by Leach and singles by Tucker and F. Leahy.

Curt Free, the hard luck twirler, was in good form Sunday and he pitched superb ball. Free fanned 7 while he did not issue a free ticket to first and let the opposition down with four scattered hits. One of these was a freak home run by Ervin who tapped the ball near the left field fence and robbed the pitcher of a shut out. Leach could not locate the ball, so Ervin had plenty of time to touch all the sacks. Free was given excellent support by his teammates who made only two errors.

Lockinski was on the hill for the losers and while he pitched wonderful ball in the opening rounds the Bay

ON ACCOUNT OF NEGRO EXODUS 55,000 IDLE PLOWS IN GEORGIA.

In the first six months of this year 77,500 Negroes and 29,518 whites have quit the farms of Georgia and moved to industrial centers of the North and East, according to a report on the labor exodus by James S. Peters, president of the Georgia Bankers' Association.

In the last three years, the report shows, 228,938 Negroes have migrated from Georgia, leaving the colored population of the State possibly less than it was in 1890. Some 46,000 farm dwellings have been left vacant, and, estimating thirty acres to the plow, here are more than 55,000 idle plows in the State at the present time.

"It is useless to talk about labor agents or to legislate against their activities," says the report. "It did not require labor agents to take from Ireland almost one-half of her population and transplant them on the shores of North America. Superior living conditions and higher wages did this. It was often said that, if Ireland could stop letter-writing between the emigrants and the home people, it would be an effective means of stopping migration.

"The same holds true of the Negro today. Every letter from the North brings news of high wages, good living conditions, schools and other advantages—and these are what is doing the damage."

The report recommends increased wages, better housing conditions and better educational facilities as a means of keeping labor at home and on the farm.

PERMIT NOT ITS SPIRIT TO ABATE.

The shot that was heard around the world continued to reverberate, in fact, grew in volume, until it culminated in the great explosion of unfettered sentiment known as the Declaration of Independence; hence the custom for so many years of marking the anniversary with explosive rites. This tendency, thoroughly fitting for the young and ardent days of the nation, has decreased considerably and has been supplanted by manifestations of the spirit more in keeping with maturity and thoughtful patriotism.

We may put aside the more extravagant demonstrations, but we must maintain a reverence for the emblems and memories of Independence Day and must not diminish the importance of its principles; otherwise our country will be imperiled. From the standpoint of nationalism, the Fourth of July is by long odds the most important day we celebrate.

The annual observance keeps the most sacred of American traditions fresh in the hearts of the people. Any lapsing of the spirit, any turning aside from the objects of the occasions, are lessening of vigilance and in favor of the enemies of American institutions.

The ideals of the day form one of the strongest bulwarks against that propaganda and those forces, organized both inside and outside our borders, known to be aiming at the destruction of this nation.

HAPPY TO BE OUT OF MOSCOW.

George Seldes Chicago Tribune correspondent, in a letter to one of the editors of the Tribune, says: "I must tell you how happy I am to be out of Moscow. I rather like the idea of going back after the trip to Paris in January, but from the first day of my return I felt that things should change. Eventually when there were internal and international troubles the chance came to see the real, vicious fact of bolshevism. I did not, however, get scared, or the crazy ideas of being 'shadowed' at every step, as did—. But it was bad enough. Believe me, if bolshevism ever comes to America nothing would please me more than a nice corner post on a roof overlooking two main streets and a nice, large machine gun and unlimited belts of ammunition. I am convinced more than ever that Russian bolshevism will never be satisfied until it carries world revolution to other countries, but the country they want most is America. I certainly believe it is the duty of every man who cares the least bit for his own liberty or for the most fundamental human rights, to fight the greatest force today of anti-civilization."

THE FARM BUSINESS.

It is the business of every farmer to grow good crops upon his farm. His dependence is upon the fertility of the soil, it is the capital upon which he does business, and is the asset of the farm.

When we take into consideration the fact, that some farmers raise 80 to over 100 bushels of corn to the acre, while the general average of the farmers in the same county or state having an equal chance to do the same, produce less than half the amount.

It is evident that the majority of the farmers are not using the proper method of keeping up the fertility of the soil. While the average is not equal to one-half the best crop yields, there must be a goodly number far below the average. We all want better yields and the only way to get them, is to improve the fertility of the soil.

The soil with its fertility exhausted, is like a bank without funds. This is occasioned by the crop that is grown upon the land, drawing on the elements that constitutes the fertility of the soil, to produce the crop. If the soil is not supplied with manure or matter that forms a fertilizer to replace that used in making the crop, the soil will grow weaker with each crop yield. This, therefore, shows the vital necessity and urgency of building up the producing asset of the great majority of our farms.

LEARNING

Take our President today—Once, and not so far away. He couldn't spell the simplest word. Mortals ever spoke or heard, Couldn't add up two and two. Didn't know where cotton grew; Had to learn all that some way. And he's President today. Bet you, if we knew the truth, He made blunders in his youth, And in school our President Wasn't always excellent; Bet he had his troubles too, Just like me and just like you, Wondered, too, at every turn Why there was so much to learn.

There was nothing when he came, Proving he was born for fame, Nothing more of skill or joy Than God gives each normal boy. He possessed. You have as much As was his to clasp and clutch, By his conquest he inspired All the knowledge he acquired.

You begin where he began.

S.S.S. keeps away Pimples

THERE are thousands of women who wonder why their complexions do not improve in spite of all the face treatments they use. They should not continue to wonder. Eruptions come from blood impurities and a lack of rich blood-cells. S.S.S. is acknowledged to be one of the most powerful, rapid and effective blood cleansers known. S.S.S. builds new blood-cells. This is why S.S.S. rids out of your system the impurities which cause boils, pimples, blackheads, acne, blotches, eczema, tetter, rash. S.S.S. is a remarkable flesh-builder. That's why underweight people can quickly build up their lost flesh, get back their normal weight, pink, plump cheeks, bright eyes, and "pep."

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

You're a boy and he's a man, But with all that he can do. He was once a boy like you! And for all that makes him great. He has had to work and wait. Had to learn it, day by day— You can learn the self-same way.

Today's Talk

I hear a great deal about a man's spiration, then we have reached our usefulness being caged, clipped, or age limit. There is something very splendid about youth and its enthusiasms, but with the broadening of the mind over the years comes a value to character that youth never knows.

I must confess that I find it difficult to get the exact meaning of this term.

Is there an age limit to a man's usefulness and creative ability? Or does the man himself fix all this?

I am a believer in youth—plus! And a man long past his fifties may have all this. There are many old and useless men at the age of thirty.

A famous doctor, sometime ago, urged that men past sixty be done away with. But, as I recall, that would have done away with the doctor himself!

When we have lost our interest, our desire to rise higher, our hope for finer things—when we have forgotten how to be kind and to be thoughtful toward other people—when we find work lacking in in-

WATCHMAN'S ERROR RESULTS IN KILLING OF MANY FISH

An error on the part of a watchman at the plant of The Hagar Straw Board and Paper Company at Cedarville was blamed for the killing of several thousand fish in Massie's Creek, by Greene County Game Protector Karl Keller, Monday.

The fish and game official fixed blame for the death of the fish on the watchman after an investigation which indicated that other company officials were not responsible. The watchman, according to Mr. Keller, thought the rains Friday were sufficient to cause a freshet in the stream enough to carry away poisonous waste matter from the sludge beds at the plant.

In the belief the poisonous matter would be carried away, he released a valve on one of the 'sludge' beds. When he reached the dam he saw the water was clear and hurrying back, closed the valve. In the meantime considerable waste matter had entered the stream. Thousands of fish died while a number of others were saved by Mr. Keller, who transferred many of them to clear water.

J. T. Travers, Columbus, supervisor of streams of the State Fish and Game Department, is expected to make an investigation of the situation Tuesday morning with the local Game Protector.

Under normal conditions there is no danger of poisoning the fish in the stream, according to Mr. Keller. Installation of reservoirs to retain the sludge prevented this trouble. There were no fish killed there last summer and none this summer until the watchman opened the gates last Friday, he said. This, according to Mr. Keller, proves that the equipment of the plant is safe now, barring the possibilities of the mistake of a caretaker.

Since the gates were opened complaints have also reached Mr. Keller from farmers, who say their stock to refuse to drink the water. W. W. Galloway, head of the Cedarville Company, expressed regret for the error of the employee.

Mr. Galloway has sent company employees to remove dead fish from the stream and bury them, to prevent unsanitary conditions along the stream, it is said.

THROWN OUT OF BUGGY-ESCAPES

Ed Shaw, farmer, of near Bellbrook, escaped unhurt when he was thrown out of his buggy as it was struck by an automobile occupied by five colored men near Main and Galloway Streets Saturday afternoon.

Police say the automobile was in a triple collision. The driver said he was traveling east on Main Street when his machine struck a car swerving to the left and colliding with an Adair furniture store truck. After striking the truck the machine swerved straight across the street, running into the buggy. Shaw was thrown out but unhurt. The buggy was damaged.

LEAGUE CONTESTS SATURDAY FAIL TO CHANGE STANDINGS

The Xenia Shoes continued their winning streak in the Industrial League Saturday by taking the measure of the Kelly Gordons, 8 to 4 at Willow Tree Park while the H. and A. Binders were defeating the H. and A. Blue Hearts 5 to 4 at Reserve Park and the Pennsylvania Railroad nine was defeating the H. and A. Commercials 5 to 1 at Washington Park.

Results of Saturday's games leaves the Shoes out in front in the League race with four won and none lost, while the Gordons drop back behind the Binders and Binders out. The Commercials made another vain attempt to break into the win column and as a result are still occupying the cellar position while the Blue Hearts also slipped a few notches downward.

"BABY FARM CARAVAN" MYSTERY TRAGEDY

Mrs. Anna Siewers and Wards, nre.

been boarding the children in her home in Brooklyn, but her neighbors objected, and she bundled them all into a taxicab and took the long journey northward, in an effort to buy a farm where she could care for the infants. During the long automobile trip up the State two of the children became seriously ill and a third died. Mrs. Siewers was lodged in the county almshouse with her wards, and their parents were notified to come after them.

LIGHTNING AND RAIN PRODUCED

Volta machine, nre.

From manufactured clouds over a miniature village artificial lightning of 2,000,000 volts has been produced in a series of experiments at Pittsfield, Massachusetts, in the laboratory of the General Electric Company. Lightning flashed from make-believe clouds and leveled buildings in the pseudo village, the sound of the accompanying thunder was entirely realistic. In some tests rain, also, was produced. Despite the fact that lightning travels at the velocity of light—186,000 miles per second—engineers were able to measure the shape of the flash, determine its pressure. This is the lightning generator which produced the flash of 2,000,000 volts and ten-million horsepower electrical force.

A MARGIN FOR OVERLOAD

Is Present in Every Good Machine and in Every Business Organization of Stability. Yet the Wise User Avoids Calling Upon It.

The 10-ton crane will for a while lift 15 tons. The five-ton motor truck will for a while carry seven or eight tons. But the wise user knows that it is better to avoid continuous overloading.

So it is with money. The dollar can be overworked. During brief periods it can be forced to yield more than a safe, economic rate. But the wise owner of money knows it is better to ask for only a safe yield, a yield that may be accepted with no misgivings, a yield that requires no continuous argument to prove that it is justifiable.

Cleanliness—A Modern Idea

Shortly before the Civil War, Boston made it a prison offense to take a bath except on the advice of a physician. The Philadelphia Council tried to make it illegal to bathe between November 1 and March 15 and failed by one vote. Virginia placed a luxury tax of $30 on each bathtub in the state.

Ideas regarding cleanliness have changed materially since then. In fact, ideas on almost everything have undergone something of a metamorphosis. Today, these changes are taking place more rapidly than ever before. There has never been a time when evolution hit such a furious pace—when conditions changed so quickly—when standards of living were raised so consistently.

You may not realize it, but advertising is responsible for much of this improvement. Advertising has taken its place as a leading force in solving the wants of the people.

Stop and think how many of the appliances you use, the foods you eat, the clothes you wear and other articles entering into your daily life, were popularized through newspaper advertising.

Then you will realize what a debt you owe to advertising.

Combination Salad—This means, of course, any combination of leftovers suitable to combine for a salad. The "Combination Salad" which Thursday's menu will call for might, for instance, be made of beets, string beans (left over from Wednesday night's dinner), mixed with a hard-boiled egg and a little chopped pickle to make it appetizing. Serve with Mayonnaise dressing.

Stuffed Potatoes—Bake six potatoes of uniform size. When done and still hot, cut off a small end from each potato and scoop out the inside into a bowl; mash well and add two tablespoons of butter, one-half cup of hot milk, one teaspoon of finely chopped parsley and salt and pepper to season. Beat the whites of two eggs stiff and mix it with the potato. Then refill the skins with this stuffing, letting it mound up well. Brush the tops with the egg-yolks and crowd the stuffed potatoes together into a small pan so that they will stand upright. Slip the pan into a hot oven for ten minutes, and serve. If desired, a slice of bacon may be laid over the top of each potato, to crisp in this final baking.

Stuffed Baked Peppers—Cut a slice from the stem-end of several bell peppers and scoop out the seeds. Let the pepper-cups lie in salted water for one hour, then boil them in clear water for ten minutes and drain. They have now lost their taste and are ready to be stuffed. Of course, hash, ham and peas, or any appropriate stuffing may be used for them. But the stuffing I had in mind for Sunday Night's Supper menu is the following:

Chicken Stuffing—Put the leftovers from the Sunday Noon Dinner's Fricas-seed Chicken through your meat grinder, measure it, then season it to taste with salt and pepper. Add one teaspoon of grated onion, one tablespoon of chopped parsley, one large tomato finely minced, with its juice, and the same measure of cracker crumbs as you have of chicken. Mix well together, and use as a stuffing for the pepper-cups.

Lay a slice of bacon over the top of each stuffed pepper and bake, in a pan containing a very little boiling water, for 40 minutes. If desired, chopped stuffed olives may also be added to the stuffing to give a different flavor. Or leftovers of chives, celery and a very little chopped pickle may be added.

The peppers may be stuffed in the early afternoon, kept in the refrigerator, then baked at night for supper—thus allowing the housewife to remain out till almost suppertime.

NATALIE HAS A CONFIDENT

Chapter XL

For the first time in weeks Natalie slept peacefully. She was safe at least for a time, safe from the haunting terror of the job hunter, safe from encounters with those whom she wished to avoid. In no way did Etta and Clyde change in their attitude toward her. She was a helping friend.

Two days after Natalie took up her work with them, Etta's little daughter arrived. Then Natalie knew a sort of happiness to add to her peace. The tiny babe awoke all the mother instinct latent in her; she loved the child as if it were her own. Yet occasionally, when she saw Clyde's pride and happiness, she had again the feeling of having cheated Horace. Perhaps if she had had a child, Mrs. Crandell would have been kinder, Horace not so coldly critical.

"It's too late now," she told herself, as she lavished affection on little Natalie, named for her.

Etta and Clyde watched her, and when she was busy talked of how they hoped she would go back to Horace, and in their simple way tried to plan how they might help bring it about.

Often Natalie talked aloud to the baby giving voice to all that was in her mind, finding relief in speaking. "He didn't love me enough, baby, to try to help me be more like I should have been—like his kind. And his mother hated me. And he promised he would never leave her, that she should live with him always. It wasn't fair, baby, was it?"

"I suppose I was to blame, too. Yet I did the best I could, the very best; but everyone was against me—all the women, and some of the men—because I wasn't anything but a 'misfit.' I just couldn't be like them, baby. I didn't know how. They made me feel dumb, as if I couldn't talk. I wonder if I ever could learn. It's too late to do any good, but I'd like to be their kind just for myself."

Sometimes Etta would hear a little of what Natalie told the baby, and wept because of Natalie's failure, her spoiled life. She had been the smartest, the highest paid of all the office girls they knew, and they had envied her. She had made a brilliant marriage, far more brilliant than any of the others had or were likely to make, yet now she was the most unhappy, the loneliest of them all.

Natalie had been right in thinking

Beverly Rainsford had recognized her the day she left Harwood's office. Not only had she, but she also had tried in vain to find Natalie after she had recovered from her first surprise. By slipping into the office building where Clyde Blackwell found her, Natalie had eluded Beverly.

Beverly, like other friends of Horace's, had been mystified by Natalie's disappearance, the evading replies when she was mentioned. Mrs. Crandell had not confided in her. Beverly knew no more than that Natalie was away, supposedly visiting her own people. Yet she had been suspicious all was not right, and meeting Natalie had proved it. What was Mrs. Horace Crandell doing in the downtown district, dressed poorly, and hiding from her? For she was sure Natalie had ran from her that day when she disappeared so quickly.

Meeting Craig Harper, Beverly spoke of the incident, expressing surprise. Craig said nothing of what he knew of Natalie, but drew from Beverly just where she had seen her.

"She looked really shabby," Beverly told him, "and she had dressed exquisitely before she went away. She had a furtive air, too, as if she were hiding. I wish I might have overtaken her."

"You may have been mistaken, resemblance are often so strong, especially at a distance," Craig told her.

"No, I was not mistaken. It was Natalie Crandell. There must be something wrong between her and Horace. He in Europe, she here in New York dressed as she was. Had it not been for that I might think she had come back to attend to business of some kind—but she didn't want to be seen again when she saw me." Then "Do you know where she came from, where her people live?"

"Haven't the faintest idea. I still think you were mistaken, Beverly." Craig said as he left her. But under his breath he muttered: "It was Natalie, all right, and I'll find her."

UNION SERVICE AT LOCAL CHURCH DRAWS
BIG CROWD SUNDAY

A record crowd attended the union church service at the First United Presbyterian Church, on East Market Street, Sunday evening, when Rev. E. W. Middleton, pastor of the First Reformed Church, spoke.

The large church auditorium and lecture rooms were filled, a number of people being turned away for the service.

The Rev. Mr. Middleton took for the topic of his sermon "The Kingdom of God Righteousness, Peace and Joy in the Holy Ghost." He strongly brought out the four factors in righteousness, the first of which was the possibility of righteousness through the personality of Jesus Christ. The second factor, brought out by the minister, was righteousness coming only through persistency of personality after death, or living again to give answer for our present life. The third factor, according to the Rev. Middleton, was the interaction of the Holy Ghost on life, and the fourth, the matter of eternal rewards.

Special music was rendered by the Rev. and Mrs. Walker Gordon, and Mrs. William J. Cherry.
